

SOCIETY

Society Belle to Wed Naval Officer.

On the twentieth of this month Miss Hazel Maud Hoffman will become the bride of Lieutenant William Henry Munter. This wedding will not be a large affair, about one hundred guests will be present. The ceremony will be performed at half past eight o'clock at the prospective bride's parents' beautiful home on Kewalo street. The impressive Episcopal service will be used by Canon Ault. The color for the decorative scheme will be in shades of rose, from a deep shade to a pale pink. The ceremony will be performed in the artistic dining room, this room will be entirely in white and green. Miss Florence Hoffman will be the maid of honor, Miss Genevieve Hocking and Miss Sybil Hocking the two younger sisters of the prospective bride, and little Miss Margaret Wall will act as flower girls. Miss Hazel Hoffman is a very popular girl in the society circles of Honolulu, her picture and the picture of her fiancé appear on page twelve. Miss Hoffman is a petit demibrunette with large brown eyes, and curly hair. She is winsome and gracious in manner and possesses many friends. This attractive girl met Lieutenant Munter four years ago, when he was stationed here on the U. S. S. Revenue Cutter Manning. Lieutenant Munter comes from an old family in Baltimore, Md. This gallant officer and his young bride will visit in the South; they will leave for the Coast shortly after the wedding. Lieutenant Munter will have a three months' leave, so the honeymoon will be a protracted one. The first of the year this officer will act as executive officer of the U. S. S. Mohawk, which is stationed at Tompkinsville, N. Y. Miss Hoffman has been the recipient of numerous engagements present, among the most beautiful is a large solid silver punch bowl, which was presented to her during her sojourn in the Orient. This gift was from a coterie of friends belonging to the American colony at Hongkong, China.

Mr. and Mrs. Chillingworth's Poi Supper.

Monsieur and Madame Dreyfus were the complimented guests at a poi supper which was given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth. This delightful entertainment was given at the latter's bungalow on King street. The guests were seated at a long table, which was laden with Hawaiian delicacies. The color scheme was yellow and green, at each place were lima leis, intermingled with mallow. In the center of the table was a large silver epergne filled with Hawaiian fruits. During the repast Hawaiian melodies were sung, and many toasts proposed complimentary to the guests of honor. After supper, Madame Dreyfus was prevailed upon to sing, and in her customary manner, held her audience spellbound. Later in the evening the guests participated in dancing until a late hour. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth, Prince and Princess Kalaniana'ole, Monsieur and Madame Dreyfus, Mr. Harry Simpson, Miss Maggie McIntyre, Judge and Mrs. Alexander Robertson, Mr. Frank Thompson, Miss Kate McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hons, Mr. Chester Doyle, Miss Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, Mr. and Mrs. James Jaeger, Mr. Sam Walker, Mr. Walter Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. Frank McIntyre, Mr. Bowen.

Mrs. Cooper Entertains.

A picnic supper given by Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper, Thursday evening, created a pleasant diversion from the conventional form of entertaining such as dinners and bridges. The party of eighteen motored to "Under Cliffs" the country home of the Coopers, on the eastern side of Diamond Head. The party arrived at this beautiful summer home shortly after five o'clock, and took a dip in "the briny deep" before supper. This repast was served at a long table, picnic fashion, underneath the trees.

The grounds were lighted with Chinese lanterns. This entertainment was given in honor of Mrs. Hubert Vos, and her daughter, Miss Annie Graham. Honoluluans will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Vos has decided to leave for the mainland on the 10th of this month. Miss Graham has almost decided not to go, but to spend the winter with her grandmother, Mrs. Coney. Miss Graham is one of the most beautiful girls that has ever visited in these islands and has been the incentive for much entertainment. She is a tall, willowy brunette, with large expressive brown eyes, and dark wavy brown hair. Only the intimate friends of the guests of honor were invited to Mrs. Charles Bryant Cooper's picnic supper. Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Winifred Dabbitt, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Prosser, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Mrs. Newby of Pasadena, Cal., Mr. J. H. Coney of Kauai, Mr. Harold Dillingham, Mr. Robert McCarriston, Mr. Hobson Walker and Mr. William Roth.

In compliment to Miss Helen Irwin and her fiancé, Templeton Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. George Pope entertained at a Spanish dinner at Pebble Beach lodge on Sunday evening. With logs blazing in the two open fireplaces and red and yellow lanterns casting a soft glow overhead, the interior made an artistic picture. Spanish melodies floated from a screened corner. The thirty guests were seated at four long tables, made vivid in color by masses of red dahlias, intermingled with yellow and red shaded candles. Mrs. Pope received in a gown of silver, embroidered chiffon of pale lavender over satin, and the guests at her table wore: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McNear, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Clark, Mesdames: J. B. Crockett, Walter S. Martin, Jennie Crocker, Virginia Joffe, Lee Girvin, Isabel Sprague, Elizabeth Newhall, Messrs: Joseph Redding, Edward Greenway, Alexander Hilley, Prescott Scott, Bert Payne, Douglas Grant, Teddy Eyre, The Misses Woods, Elizabeth.—S. F. Examiner, Aug. 23.

Mrs. Waterhouse's Dinner.

Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Eleanor Waterhouse and Mr. George Leenberg. The engagement of this young couple was announced last week. This entertainment was in the nature of a dinner. The decorations were in green and gold. Covers were laid for ten, the place cards were miniature cupid. For the present Mrs. Waterhouse and her two daughters are sojourning at Tantalus, to escape the heat in town. They will remain in this mountain retreat until the sailing of the Maruma, when they will embark for Europe.

Mr. Irwin's Dinner.

Red carnations combined with maiden hair ferns, made a beautiful decoration for the dinner table at which Mr. Irwin acted as host Saturday evening. This dinner was given at the Moana Hotel. Covers were laid for six. Handsome silver candelabra, containing candles, shaded with scarlet silk shades, which shed a becoming glow over the assembled guests. After dinner the party attended the polo ball, which was given at the Moana Hotel. Among Mr. Irwin's guests were: Mr. Roberts, Mr. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Roberts, Mr. Whitney, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Irwin.

Mrs. Weaver's Tea.

Mrs. Ellen Weaver entertained informally at tea, Monday afternoon, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lynch of Chicago. Tea was served under the spreading banyan tree, the tea table was adorned with large magnolia blossoms. Mrs. Weaver's daughter, Mrs. Clarissa Bochelefeld presided gracefully at the tea table, a pleasant hour of chit-chat was enjoyed by the guests. Among those grouped around the tea table were: Mr. and Mrs. Lynch, Judge and Mrs. Sanford B. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. David Lyman of Chicago, Mrs. Ellen Weaver and others.

Prince Kalaniana'ole's Stag Luncheon.

Prince Kalaniana'ole made a genial host Thursday when he entertained at a stag luncheon. The table was massed with La France roses and maiden hair fern. At one o'clock a delicious repast was served, after luncheon the party motored to the Pall and to Moanalua. Among those present were: Prince Kalaniana'ole, Monsieur Dreyfus, Mr. George Smith, Mr. Charles Chillingworth and Mr. Bowen and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis and Mr. Donald Lewis have taken apartments at the Young Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and their son have been sojourning for the past five weeks at the Sam Parker home on Mt. Tantalus. During their stay on the mountain side, they kept "open house" and gave much pleasure to their numerous Honolulu friends, for the delightful climate of Tantalus was thoroughly enjoyed by their numerous guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Fennimore and Mr. and Mrs. Holmes of San Francisco, entertained Thursday in honor of Major and Mrs. Kennedy of Fort Shafter and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wall. The table was decorated in pink and green, the place cards were ornamented with a conventional design. After dinner the party attended Madam Dreyfus' concert which was given Thursday evening in the concert room of the Moana Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Paxton will sail on the 10th of this month for the mainland, where they will enjoy an extended trip through the Eastern States. This popular couple will enjoy a showy Christmas in the Far East, for they are not planning to return to Honolulu until 1911. During their absence Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn nee Madge McCandless, will occupy their home in Manoa Valley.

Mr. Harold Dillingham, who since her arrival from Honolulu, has continued to be so much fetted, will leave in a day or so for Del Monte to enjoy the golf tournament as the guest of Miss Helene Irwin. Miss Irwin is due to arrive from Santa Barbara today and she, with her fiancé, Templeton Crocker, will be the motifs of many of the social festivities at Del Monte.—S. F. Examiner.

The Oceanic liner Sierra, which arrived yesterday from Honolulu, had among other passengers aboard Princess David Kawananakoa, who has spent the summer at her island home. The Princess will again enjoy a winter in San Francisco in her attractive residence in Presidio terrace.—S. F. Examiner.

The U. S. S. Charleston is expected to arrive in Honolulu on the fifteenth of this month, and will remain for a week or ten days. The officers on the Charleston have numerous friends in Honolulu, a number of dinners, dances and bridge parties are being planned in their honor.

Mr. Pinchon's Dinner.

Mr. Pinchon entertained at dinner Thursday evening at the Moana Hotel. The table was in searlet. A delicious repast was served at seven o'clock, after dinner the host and his guests attended the musical recital by Madam Dreyfus.

Miss Katherine Stephens, niece of Captain and Mrs. Marx of the U. S. Marine Corps is visiting Lieutenant and Mrs. Cunningham at Lihua. Miss Stephens will remain for the regimental hop which will be given at the Fifth Cavalry Post, Saturday evening.

Monsieur and Madame Dreyfus.

The luncheon given Friday by Monsieur and Madame Dreyfus was a delightful affair. The luncheon was given at the Alexander Young Hotel in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chillingworth.

Miss Lucas to Visit On Hawaii.

Miss Sara Lucas will visit Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson at their home at Pahoa, Hawaii. While on Hawaii Miss Lucas will visit several weeks at the Volcano House.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Olson of Kahuku, announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Bohr, to William Arthur Cleghorn.

ESTELLE HEARTT DREYFUS

An Appreciation, by Grace Tower Warren.

A rare treat was afforded lovers of the best in music Thursday night, in the artistic concert recital of Estelle Heartt Dreyfus of Los Angeles, which was given in the music room of the Moana Hotel, and that the audience appreciated the rendition was emphasized by its numbers and their enthusiasm.

Mrs. Dreyfus is gifted with a rich contralto voice of wide register and great roundness and smoothness of tone, and it shows the most careful and artistic cultivation. There is a depth and charm to it that many voices, good in themselves, fail to express, and her enunciation is so perfect and her stage presence so charming and graceful, that it is a pleasure to listen to song after song. This singer is very sensitive to the mood of the song, and, like the actor who gives only of his best when he feels the meaning back of his lines, she sings with the understanding heart. Long before she gives the words to melody she has sought and found the real soul of the song, the thought back of the words, that make it hers, and thus her singing contains a mental charm as well as one of pure melody. This quality is especially emphasized in "The Salvation of the Dawn," composed by Frederic Stevenson of Los Angeles, the instructor with whom, as a girl, she did some of her first work. This composition is dedicated to her. The singer possesses that indefinable something which, for lack of a better name, is called temperament, and it gives to her work life and spontaneity.

When arranging her programs Mrs. Dreyfus prefers to make each one the development of one central thought, each number adding something to the unfolding, like the petals of a flower, till the whole forms the perfect blossom, and when giving a series of concerts she usually does this, but as this was to be her only public appearance in Honolulu, it was thought best to choose a more miscellaneous program, interspersing grave and gay and shadow and sunshine to suit all tastes.

Of the shorter numbers, the "Spanish Love Song" of Chaminade, with its rippling, dancing melodies, and Schubert's ever beautiful "Death and the Maiden," were perhaps the favorites, but it was in the two operatic numbers in which the singer's greatest power was shown. It is difficult to say which won the greater appreciation—the excerpt from "The Huguenots," with all the dash and the fire and the passion which Meyerbeer knew so well how to put into his music, or the famous "Habanera," from Bizet's "Carmen," with all its daring and abandon. So great was the enthusiasm after the rendition of this number, that Mrs. Dreyfus was obliged to repeat a portion of it. Her frock seemed especially chosen with thought of this number—black spangled net, with a touch of gold in the bodice, blood-red roses caught at the corsage and two red roses nestling in the picturesque, coquettish Spanish fashion in her hair.

Miss Margaret Clarke, with her pale gold hair and white gown, made a most pleasing foil for the darker beauty of the singer, and her work at the piano, always so artistic, was admirably done. The cello obligato of Dr. Carl Ramus added much to the effect of the Stevenson number, and altogether the concert was one long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfus are leaving Wednesday on the Wilhelmnia for Hilo, where the latter is booked to appear once in concert, and after visiting the volcano will return to Honolulu for a few days before sailing on the Matson liner for San Francisco and the South. During their stay here they have been much entertained and have greatly enjoyed the glimpses of Honolulu life, both past and present, which they have had. Shortly before leaving, Mrs. Dreyfus will give a small invitation recital to some women friends in compliment to Mrs. Fennimore and Mrs. Holmes of San Francisco, who are visiting here, and as a farewell courtesy to the women whose hospitality she has enjoyed while here. The affair will be given at the Hau Tree, where Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfus have made their home while here.

A GOOD BET.

Two old cronies went into a drug store in the downtown part of New York City, and, addressing the proprietor by his first name, one of them said:

"Dr. Charley, we have made a bet of the ice-cream sodas. We will have them now, and when the bet is decided the loser will drop in and pay for them."

As the two old fellows were departing after enjoying their temperance beverage, the druggist asked them what the wager was.

"Well," said one of them, "our friend George bets that when the tower of the Singer Building falls, it will topple over toward the North River, and I bet that it won't."—Everybody's Magazine.

MANY CAMPERS STARTING OUT

Labor Day Camping Men Leaving For Good Time

This afternoon at 3 o'clock a fishing party will leave on the yacht Hawaii for Lanai, and the fishermen will return on Monday afternoon, tired, but, presumably, happy.

Included in the party are Prince Cupid, Tom King, Charlie Wilder, Charlie Chillingworth, J. Bowen, George Smithles, and several other well-known people. The fish are said to be biting freely off Lanai, and as plenty of bait will form part of the cargo of the Hawaii, a big haul is expected.

Another party of a dozen or so fishermen is leaving for Kaena Point, and it will be in charge of Lester Petrie. All the regular scouts who make the trip annually are on the list, and a great time is looked forward to.

Other camping parties are getting under way this afternoon, and for a couple of days there will be tents to be seen all over the country. On Tuesday morning there will be a collection of sun-burned faces that will adorn Fort and King streets.

COACHMAN VICTOR OVER MILLIONAIRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A coachman defeated the millionaire owner of a big Long Island estate in a spirited contest for a place on the school board at Manhasset, N. Y., last night by a margin of a dozen votes. The victor, William A. Warren, made his campaign on the issue that he was the father of a family, while Stephen H. Mason, his opponent, though married, could boast of no children and as a consequence was not likely, Warren alleged, to take equal interest in the affairs of the school. Mason made his campaign on his record for the term which he is just completing. He refused to solicit votes and announced that if the people wanted him for another term they would have to turn out and vote for him of their own accord.
